The Dance of Partnership: Why Do My Feet Hurt?

Strengthening the Parent-Professional Partnerships

Janice Fialka, MSW, ACSW

This training is designed to assist professionals and parents who have children with special needs or disabilities to better understand the challenges faced as they form and maintain partnerships with each other. Using humor and stories, Ms. Fialka explores the unique dimensions which complicate this working relationship from both perspectives: parent and professional. She addresses such questions as: Can there truly be a partnership? What does each partner bring to this alliance: similarities and differences? How can partners be more effective in their work together?

As a result of the training, participants gain insight about their work and partnership skills. They experience a renewal in their desire to collaborate. Janice uses mini-lectures, video clips, and interactive learning activities to ensure a lively and thoughtful experience and exchange of ideas.

Ms. Fialka has worked professionally in the field of adolescent health care for more than 30 years, as a social worker, educator, consultant, administrator, grant writer, and trainer. She combines her personal experience as a mother of a 21-year-old son who has developmental disabilities and her professional expertise as a social worker, trainer, and national speaker.

Behavior Change is a Family Affair

Positive Behavior Support Strategies to Support Children with Challenging Behavior

Kiki McGough, Parent and Educator

We all have challenging days! This interactive session will highlight effective strategies to promote family school partnerships to support students with challenging behavior. Participants will learn to identify the "rough spots" of their day and set up proactive and positive routines. They will also develop an understanding of the process of behavior change and apply these as they brainstorm solutions to a specific behavior challenge that impacts the family. Specific tips and strategies will be shared for bedtime, meal time and getting ready for school. Parents will create a mini behavior change plan for themselves with a data tool to "Stick with the plan!"

Kiki McGough is currently a Special Education Coordinator in Adams 50 School District CO and has served as the Colorado PBS State Coordinator. She has extensive experience working with schools and families on implementing positive behavior support strategies. She provides interactive and engaging presentations with strategies that teachers and parents can quickly implement at home and school. Kiki has 35 years of experience in the field of special education AND has 3 wonderful children with ADHD who have provided lots of material for stories and hands on parenting skills.
